

Build on Our Experience

We've all heard the horror stories. Moving a business can produce more than just a little added pressure on its management. Poorly executed moves have put many companies out of business; have commonly caused sales declines of ten, twenty and thirty percent; have routinely exceeded budgets by multiples of their original projections; and, have been the cause of mass exodus' of valuable employees.

Most companies have little or no design, architectural or construction experience in-house. They find themselves ill-equipped to face the many complex problems that a move poses.

How to find the right architect? The right telecom configuration? The best interior designer? The best contractors? The proper completion schedules? Above all, how to avoid costly overruns and delays?

In short, how to get the job done on time, on budget and to everyone's satisfaction?

Most executives know a realtor and an architect, but how can they be sure that they are the right ones for the job?

Quite simply, the best way is to put Savant on your team. With 25 years of experience in all phases of the the business, Savant's project managers know the qualified players, the sound principles and the proper procedures that set the stage for designing, building and moving into a first rate facility—on-time and within budget.

Best of all, Savant will be with you every step of the way—from initial space evaluation and strategy development to final build-out and move-in, accountable to no one but you.

The right space. Designed to fit your business. Built with an exceptional level of quality. Completed on time and at the right price. Producing the least disruption to your staff. It's a complex process, and one that exposes you to substantial financial risk.

Savant helps you manage that risk and makes sure that the real estate, design, technology and construction you get is exactly what you bargained for.

Savant takes the time to learn about your business before we begin developing plans or proposals. We study your industry, your products, your people, your processes and your priorities. We even study your competition. We gain a thorough understanding of how your current workspace functions. And where your workflow could be improved. As a result, we are able to focus and manage the real estate acquisition and design process so you get a customized space that fits your requirements precisely.

Where Savant has been contracted as the overall project manager, it has always succeeded in delivering a project on schedule. When we make a promise, we keep it. And deadlines are no exception. A new space that's not ready on time costs you money. So we work hard to establish realistic timetables for each phase of the real estate, design, telecom, construction and move process. Then we ride herd on all parties concerned to make sure they meet their commitments.

Most important of all, we serve as your eyes and ears at each stage of the project. We provide the day-in, day-out monitoring and quality assurance. That allows you to focus exclusively on your ever changing business challenges.
